

WHEN BEING RIGHT IS WRONG....

4 questions to ask yourself next time you're feeling "right":

- 1. Do I want to be right or be happy?
- 2. What's more important to me:
making someone wrong for the moment
or having a great long-term relationship?
- 3. What would happen if I let go of the urge to correct and concentrated instead on the rewards of connecting?
- 4. Could I let someone else be right for just a minute
before I say what I think?

TRY THIS: Say, "You're right. I understand your point of view,"
And then give your point of view,
This will work miracles.
I guarantee it!